For those of you who were inside the Capitol on Thursday with me, or have seen videos of the conversation I had with a particular state rep who accused me of lying about House Bill 5709... He came out of session and repeatedly stated that House Bill 5709 never said anything about a $5,000 fine. I responded to him that it most certainly did, and I understand that it is possible some modifications were made to the bill before they voted on it, but I could not see the version they were voting on because we were locked outside at the time. As you can see below, the language clearly had a $5,000 fine included. The red pen marks are the changes I was suggesting that they make to the bill. The bold print is the text the bill was adding to the current law. 🙄

Edit: Although this bill was drafted by Jason Sheppard, he is not the state rep of whom I spoke above.
